

Thirty-third Sunday In Ordinary Time

November 18, 2018

You are my inheritance, O Lord!

Hoy se nos pide que miremos al cielo, de donde vendrá el Hijo del hombre el día señalado por Dios para juzgar al mundo (EVANGELIO). También Daniel nos habla, por su parte (PRIMERA LECTURA), del fin del mundo, de la resurrección de los muertos y del juicio que abrirá a los hombres las puertas de la vida eterna. En la carta a los hebreos (SEGUNDA LECTURA) se habla de Cristo, el sumo sacerdote glorificado de esta junto a Dios, después de haber ofrecido su propia vida como sacrificio para salvar a los hombres.

Thirty-third Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)
Dn 12:1-3; Heb 10:11-14, 18; Mk 13:24-32

The Sistine Chapel fresco The Last Judgment may be the greatest representation of the coming of Christ at the end of time. The centerpiece of the composition is Christ the judge with the Virgin at his side represented in a halo, surrounded by a crowd of apostles, prophets, patriarchs, Old Testament heroines, martyrs, and saints who form a double crown of swirling bodies. Michelangelo painted hundreds of figures, all with exquisite attention to detail.

Just think, when Michelangelo was painting, his work in the chapel was destined to be seen by very few—the pope, his court, a few visiting kings and diplomats at most. The Sistine Chapel would receive less foot traffic in Michelangelo's time than a medium- to small-sized parish today. Yet, Michelangelo painted with the same eye to perfection as if he knew his work would be seen by millions. He was not painting for the multitudes but for God and his patron, the pope.

Similarly, if we act with generosity and love, whether observed by millions or no one, we will follow the path to true freedom and love. We do what is right, not to be seen, but because we want to be true to God, ourselves, and others. Living like this, we will have no reason to fear the Last Judgment.

More than six million people annually see The Last Judgment in person, and countless more via broadcasts and social media. So do everything well, since it is seen by God and yourself—and maybe some day, by more eyes than you ever imagined!

Dear Padre

November 18, 2018

What are the Catholic Church's liturgical seasons?
When does a new liturgical year begin?

A liturgical year is an annual cycle of communal prayer and celebration. The Roman Catholic Church divides its liturgical year into five distinct seasons: Advent, Christmas, Lent, Easter, and Ordinary Time.

Our liturgical year starts on the first Sunday of Advent. The Christmas season officially starts with the evening celebrations on December 24. Christmas runs for more than twelve days, through the feast of the Epiphany to the Baptism of the Lord, which is celebrated on either the second or third Sunday in January.

Next is Ordinary Time, which is divided into two parts. The first part ends the day before Ash Wednesday, which is the first of the forty days of Lent. Lent is followed by the seven weeks of the Easter season, which ends on the day we celebrate the descent of the Holy Spirit at Pentecost.

On Pentecost we pick up the second part of Ordinary Time, which ends the day before the first Sunday of Advent (this year that's in two weeks, on December 2). Each liturgical season has distinct flavors and traditions, but they come together in harmony to help us reflect on the one mystery at the heart of every liturgy no matter the season: the saving mystery of Christ's life, death, and resurrection.
